M.A. Classics

Students are eligible for full tuition remission and a stipend

We offer a fully funded two-year M.A. Classics degree in a rigorous and collegial atmosphere. Our program is perfect for students who wish to prepare themselves for Ph.D. programs in Classics, who plan to become Latin teachers, or who wish to continue their study of Classical antiquity and its reception for varied career paths. Students select one of four areas of emphasis: Greek; Latin; Greek and Latin; and Classical Culture which culminate in a thesis or teaching project. The M.A. Classics degree emphasizes careful attention to language, culture, and ancient language pedagogy. Students learn to write crisply, think critically, and work in teams.

The Classics Summer Institute offers teachers the opportunity to earn the M.A. Classics degree without leaving their current positions. Students take classes in Latin and Classical Culture over the course of four summers and participate in events usually offered to full-time students. Intensive Beginning Greek and Latin are also offered. Tuition assistance is available for out-of-state applicants.
